Library Example

- In a library system a user can borrow, order and reserve books. There is also a fine for the late return of books. A supervisor is responsible for approving orders and fine payments.